Both documents are thorough and thoughtfully written and I appreciate your time and efforts in creating them. The only additional thought I had was with regard to the proposed legislation, would it be workable to include in the new section that the Director of IPIB has the authority to temporarily stay or pause pending requests while the vexatious issue is being considered?

Attached is the first draft of an advisory opinion seeking to provide some guidance on reasonable restrictions on electronic requests. Daniel Strawhun from our office will be working on potential rulemaking in the future surrounding this issue, but wanted to get something out as a first step.
